

Are you and your horse prepared for an EMERGENCY?

Microchip and Trailer Loading Clinic

When? Saturday, February 28, 9-10 a.m.

Where? Wigginton Ranch 2191 Hollister St. San Diego, 92154

Who? Kim Sergeant, DVM

Cost? Microchip $38/horse Almost half price!

(This does not include sedation ($30-50) if it is needed.

Most horses do not need sedation.)

Why? All horses living in Flood Plains or mountains need to be able to escape flood and fire. The safest way to do this is by trailer! There will be several trailers available and experts to assist you in teaching or practicing with your horse loading and unloading. Evacuated horses need a microchip to determine the horse is returned to the owner and safeguard against theft following evacuation.

What to bring? Halter and lead rope

Who can come? All horses & owners

Sponsored by TRVEA